New transit bill signed

Gov. Dan Walker on Friday signed House Bill 2772 establishing a comprehensive operating subsidy program for existing downstate mass transit systems and a new program for mass transit in rural areas now without service.

The program covers the entire state except the six-county region served by the new Regional Transportation Authority (RTA) for the Chicago metropolitan area.

The program provides $6 million of state funding to make up two-thirds of the operating deficits of existing public transit systems. The remaining one-third of operating deficits are to be defrayed by local governments in the areas served by the carriers.

One exception to the local match requirement is made in the bill for the Bi-State mass transit system here. During fiscal 1975, no local subsidy will be required; the operating deficit for Illinois services of $3,250,000 will be available from state funds, Gov. Walker said.

The program also includes $1 million for a series of new rural transportation projects, which will be financed with state and federal funds. The new transportation projects must provide reduced or free fares for the elderly, disabled and handicapped, Gov. Walker said.

Gov. Walker noted that he earlier signed legislation providing $2 million of state subsidies to downstate mass transit systems as reimbursement for half-fare discounts to students and elderly riders.

Gov. Walker said: "The mass transportation needs of downstate Illinois have too often been buried and forgotten in the effort to keep one system operational — the Chicago Transit Authority."

We must recognize that public transportation is an essential service of government.

"With the signing of this bill, we are providing $7 million of state help for systems elsewhere in Illinois — in the major cities like Rockford and Peoria and Springfield and East St. Louis, and in rural areas where getting around is close to impossible unless you have a car."

"These funds are in addition to the state subsidy for students and elderly people who ride at half-fare — $2 million for downstate systems."

"The rural demonstration projects authorized in this bill are exciting new programs."

"The state Department of Transportation will help counties set the systems up. We will be encouraging use of school buses during periods when they are now idle. Some counties will set up publicly subsidized taxi fleets. Others will use mini-buses and the routes will depend on people phoning in for a ride."

"The systems will not be in full operation overnight. But we are giving them a good start with state and federal money."

Gov. Walker said the $7 million approved level of funding for the downstate carriers is contained in Senate Bill 1345. The General Assembly appropriated $8.95 million, but the state Department of Transportation calculated how much the systems can claim under House Bill 2772 and found the $7 million will cover the total.

House Bill 2772 was sponsored by Speaker W. Robert Blair (R., Park Forest).

Under the new legislation, financing of the state subsidies will be approved by 1-32 of the sales tax in the areas covered by the mass transit system.

Man killed in shooting at Madison

Michael Coleman, 22, of East St. Louis, was shot fatally at 11:35 p.m. Sunday as he stood in Garrett's Tavern, Second and Jackson streets, Madison.

Police said an unidentified gunman opened the door of the tavern and fired four shots from a .45 caliber pistol, two of them striking the victim.

Coleman was pronounced dead at St. Elizabeth Hospital. Madison police were notified of the shooting by Venice officers who received the first report of the incident. The tavern is located in Madison.

Officers said the victim was found on the floor between the counter and the stools. He was hit twice in the back near the right shoulder. The shooting occurred in the restaurant section of the tavern.

Funeral services are pending at an East St. Louis funeral home.

Need new bids for Nameoki hall

A new call for bids for improvement of the Nameoki Town Hall building and the resignation of Mrs. Helen Hawkins as township health inspector are expected to highlight a meeting of the Town Board tonight.

The bid call request will be made by Supervisor Lou Whitsell who said he has been informed that low bids submitted earlier this year by a contractor firm no longer can be guaranteed by the contractor because of the lapse of time since the bids were submitted.

Whitsell said he will request the Town Board to call new bids for the expansion of the building to provide a meeting room and more office space.

The lowest bid was submitted by the R. W. Becker Co., Inc. of Hamel at $55,262. The second, low bid was made by the Ed Moore Construction Co. with an offer of $33,308. The bids were opened by the Town Board in mid-March.

Whitsell said the Becker firm had informed him that construction costs have risen since the bid call early this year to such an extent that construction prices quoted in the March offer no longer can be considered.

The board also is scheduled to receive the resignation of Mrs. Hawkins who has become a candidate for the Nameoki Dist. at 26 County Board seat now held by Whitsell, and to which Whitsell is seeking reelection in the November election.

The resignation issue is expected to come up in a meeting of the Nameoki Township Board. A list of which had been called by Whitsell to immediately follow the Town Board meeting. Whitsell, as supervisor, is chairman of the Board of Health.

Whitsell and Mrs. Hawkins have clashed several times in recent weeks over town drainage issues and other problems.

Mrs. Hawkins has filed a petition for an independent candidate in the County Board election which will be held in conjunction with the regular November 5 balloting. Prior to that Whitsell was without opposition for re-election, having defeated two primary election candidates for the nomination in March. There is no Republican candidate running in that district.

A third candidate also is in the District 26 board race, Bradley "Mike" Briggs, son of former Supervisor Harry Briggs whom Whitsell defeated for the supervisor post in 1971.

Support in area for Pres. Ford

Quad-Cityans today were still recovering from the shock of last week's fast-moving events which saw Gerald R. Ford sworn in as President on Friday after Thursday night's resignation by Richard M. Nixon.

Most seem hopeful that the change will end the turmoil and uncertainty of the past two years, stemming from the scandal that forced Mr. Nixon out of office, centered around the Watergate burglary cover-up.

Allegations that appeared to have assured impeachment and conviction — if there had been no resignation — included obstruction of justice, abuse and misuse of federal agencies, disregard of Congressional and citizen rights, and efforts to subvert Constitutional processes to make sure that the Nixon administration would be perpetuated in office.

Despite the seriousness of the charges — leading to the first Presidential resignation in United States history — Many people feel the ouster is sufficient and that former President Nixon should be immune from prosecution.

Others favor indictment and trial. And still others want the decision delayed until more light has been thrown on the full scope of White House activities. Whether the avoidance of formal impeachment will prevent the complete story from becoming known remains uncertain.

What appears to be certain is public relief over the prospect of a less chaotic period for the nation.

From new President Ford and many others, there have been calls for the governmental "nightmare" to end and for America's "wounds" to be healed.

W. R. Keel new BAC president

The Board of Trustees of Belleville Area College on Thursday evening designated William R. Keel as college president.

The action taken at the special board meeting will be effective Sept. 1. The unanimous selection of Keel followed an intensive search by a nine-member committee composed of board, faculty, administrative and student representatives.

Keel, a lifetime resident of this region, has been an employee of the college since 1961. During this time, he has served for nine years as a faculty member in the chemistry department and four years as first administrative assistant to the president.

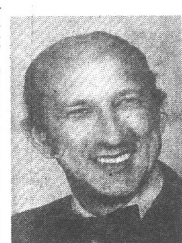

Keel received a bachelor of science degree from the University of Illinois in 1958.

His graduate work includes a master of arts in science education degree from Washington University, 1961, and a certificate of specialist in education from Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, 1971.

He is currently a candidate for the degree of doctor of philosophy in administration of higher education at St. Louis University. He resides with his wife and six children in Belleville.

Keel succeeds H. J. Habenecker, Belleville Area College's first president.

The Quad-Cities became a part of the BAC territory Aug. 1.

WILLIAM R. KEEL

Keel commented, "It is with deepest humility that I accept your offer to serve as president of Belleville Area College. I know that the search committee and the board of trustees spent many long hours in deliberation before reaching this decision."

"We are embarking on exciting times for Belleville Area College."

"Although our building program is nearly complete, the expansion to new areas demands that we search out their needs and develop delivery systems to accommodate them. I believe that we have a board and staff that welcome this challenge."

"We have a statewide reputation for sound fiscal

Ethics rule appealed

The newly created State Board of Elections is asking the Illinois Supreme Court to clarify the eligibility of candidates for state office who failed to comply with the Governmental Ethics Act.

In making this announcement, Board Chairman Michael E. Lavelle explained that there was a particular urgency in this case since it directly affects the November ballot and therefore the board was applying directly to the Supreme Court.

"This portion of the Ethics Act involves the filing of statements of economic interests on the part of all candidates for office. In order that the State Board of Elections carries out its mandate to see that the law is uniformly applied to all candidates, a decision statement by the court is the near future is essential," Lavelle said.

Last June, the Board of Elections decided that those who failed to file statements of economic interests as required by the Ethics Act were ineligible to run for office. The state subsequently, Governor Walker signed into law a bill providing a grace period for candidates for "this means," Lavelle said, "that there are 15 out of 16 candidates unaffected by the decision, still ineligible to run."

"Since the law is so new, there has been no clarifying judicial interpretation up to this point."

Lavelle spoke from the scene of the State Board's seminar on election laws and procedures, which was conducted in Dec. 1973 to train coordinators to assist local officials in the administration of election laws in Illinois.

Strikes grow in '74

Bill Usery, the federal government's No. 1 labor-management troubleshooter, concedes he's in a hot spot this year, and it's not the summer sun he's talking about.

The director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service and special assistant to the President for labor relations says the nation is saddled with the highest number of strikes in 15 years mostly because of two earlier developments: the recent energy crisis and uncertainty over the fate of wage-price controls until a few weeks ago.

"The energy crisis triggered a lot of short-term labor-management agreements and so did controls," he explains in an interview.

"Consequently some 10 million workers are involved in collective bargaining this year, compared to only seven million last year."

Complicating the task of his agency, Usery says, is the new outbreak of labor unrest among the public service unions—the fastest growing in the country. These are the unions which represent such employees as policemen, firemen, teachers, garbage collectors and nurses.

"Municipal and other public service employees were caught in a squeeze between budget cuts and higher living costs," Usery points out. "They have seen labor gains in other industries. They naturally wanted equal treatment at the bargaining table."

But what about strikes of public employees which cripple hospitals, fire fighting, police protection, electrical power and even garbage pickup?

A veteran of 20 years in settling labor-management disputes, Usery believes new federal laws are needed to make public service workers more responsible to those they serve. In several instances public service employees have continued to strike and picket in defiance of court orders to end the walkouts at least temporarily while arbitration continues.

"More and more state legislatures are enacting state-level labor mediation laws," Usery says. "So far 33 states have some form of such legislation."

He foresees an increasing role for his agency in so-called public-sector bargaining. While federal mediation is not compulsory in these labor disputes, his agency is being called in to help settle many of the strikes which cripple public services.

Despite the growing number of strikes, Usery says he is "the best 'detente' between labor and management in nearly three decades of relation."

"Both sides are concerned with inflation," he notes. "Job is to try to educate the people on both sides to be reasonable in their bargaining."

He blames the end of wage-price controls for many of the 600 strikes which have plagued the nation in recent weeks.

"The strike level was lower with controls, but when they ended the reaction set in," Usery explains.

"The result was widely scattered walkouts of small private companies—usually with only 300 or 400 members."

At least big industrywide strikes have been settled successfully this year, Usery notes, but he sees some possible trouble ahead as the time approaches for new copper and coal mining labor-management contracts, especially the latter.

The mine owners' contract with the United Mine Workers expires Nov. 12. Usery notes that as the winter months signal new demands for coal.

In the next few weeks UMW officials will submit new demands to mine owners with special emphasis, Usery believes, on improving health and safety, welfare benefits and increased pay. He calls the approaching coal industry negotiations the most serious of any on the labor horizon.

"Congress has tied Social Security and federal employee pay raises to escalating inflation," he points out. "So more and more unions have tied cost of living boosts to new wage and fringe benefit contracts."

"The union demands stem from higher food and auto fuel costs which occur every day, not from the price of new homes or clothes, which the private family buys only occasionally."

4 injured in two-car crash

Four persons were injured at 9:15 p.m. Friday when autos driven by David J. Bolling, 21, of 118 Benton St. and Mrs. Doris A. Leslie, 36, of 2703 Decker St., collided at 26th and Adams streets.

Bolling was treated at St. Elizabeth Hospital for a small cut on his scalp and then admitted for observation. Mrs. Leslie underwent x-rays to her left ankle and then was released. Two passengers in her car, Karen Leslie, 15, and Carl Leslie, 10, both of the Decker Street address, underwent a series of chest, abdominal and spinal x-rays before being released.

Police were called by the liquor store owner. While questioning the two men, Madison police made a check on the auto.

They are being held in Madison jail pending court appearance.

Add Loggins, Stampeters to concert on Wednesday

Dave Loggins, writer and singer of the current hit, "Please Come to Boston," and Canada's No. 1 rock group, The Stampeters, have been added to the program at the Mississippi River Festival at SIUE on Wednesday evening, Aug. 14, at 8:30.

Loggins and The Stampeters will perform in addition to Southern Hillman and Pury, the previously announced featured group.

"Please Come to Boston" has been the number one song in Nashville for five weeks.

Although Dave Loggins is from rural Tennessee, his voice and musical arrangements don't quite fit the country stereotype.

The fact that he has recorded successfully in Nashville is an indication of his ability to cross over the chart lines and is a mark of pride for Epic records, critics note. He is currently at work on his first album.

Originally from Calgary, Alberta, the Stampeters now make Toronto their base, and recently drew a crowd of 12,000 for a performance.

Three individuals who comprise the group are: Rich Dodson, guitar, bass, songwriter; Ronnie King, bass, guitar, songwriter; and Kim Berly, drums, guitar, songwriter.

The Stampeters write all their own material and have 10 hit singles in Canada, including "Sweet City Woman" and four gold albums.

They have released their first U.S. album through Capitol Records, titled "From the Fire."

Among the numerous awards they have received are a gold record from the United Nations; an Edison Award, given in the Netherlands for recording achievement; and a Juno Award, given in Canada for the most outstanding group of the year.

Help needed at APA pet shelter

The Quad-City Association for Protection of Animals (APA) is seeking volunteers to help maintain the APA shelter located at the Granite City Army Installation.

Mrs. Connie Becerra, shelter supervisor, said help is urgently needed by the organization from persons who like to work with animals and have concern for neglected pets.

She explained that volunteers usually work in pairs, or as a team, to cover shelter services on a specific day each week. Services performed by the volunteers include feeding the animals, cleaning pens and escorting visitors to the shelter.

Mrs. Becerra said three of the regular APA members who have been performing the tasks one day each week are unable to continue due to family and job commitments.

She noted there is no pay involved and that a volunteer is required to stay at the shelter for four or five hours, starting prior to noon and preferably earlier due to feeding and watering the animals.

A regular APA member will accompany a new volunteer and train the person in the duties, Mrs. Becerra said.

School zone speed limit is 20 miles an hour, alleys 15

Most Illinoisans are aware they must not drive their autos faster than 55 miles per hour on the state's highways, but how many know that the maximum limit down an alley is 15 mph? Or that the maximum speed limit in an urban district, unless otherwise posted, is 30 mph? Or that the maximum speed limit in school zones is 20 mph?

Excluding the 55 limit, they are all part of an amendment to the Vehicle Code passed in 1969. And they're about the only part of it to survive the temporary federal Emergency Highway Energy Conservation Act.

Responsible for the 55 mph legislation, the federal edict also caused these changes in Illinois speed limits:

Buses, from 65 mph on multi-lane highways and 60 mph on all other highways to 55 mph on all roads; and trucks under four tons, from 65 mph to 55 mph.

Those vehicles traveling at the same speed as now prior to Feb. 25 include trucks over four tons, 50 mph; and recreational vehicles, house cars, campers and private living coaches, 55 mph.

However, at no time may a vehicle be driven at a "speed which is greater than is reasonable and proper with regard to traffic conditions and the use of the highway, or endangers the safety of any person or property."

In other words, if it is not safe to drive 55, you shouldn't — even though that limit is posted.

Another area affected, but not spelled out, by the new state legislation is minimum speed.

Heretofore, minimum speeds, usually 45 mph, were often posted along expressways and limited-access highways.

"These 45 signs will be taken down," explained a spokesman from the Department of Transportation. "It is felt that a 10 mph differential between the minimum and maximum speeds is too narrow a band."

Signs denoting a maximum safe speed on curves or turns which are above the new speed edict also will come down.

All in all, things aren't as bad as they may seem.

"I was reading the other day where Illinois had its first speed limit in 1903," said Secretary of State Michael Howlett. "And it was an absolute limit of 15 mph."

In 1907, the legislature passed the first comprehensive motor vehicle law — 10 mph of highways in business districts; 15 mph in residential areas and 20 mph elsewhere.

In 1967 the old 70 mph limit for autos on expressway and limited access highways and 65 mph on rural highways was enacted.

After the energy crisis abates, the new speed limit will revert back to the old limits, unless legislators decide otherwise.

Gravy Train, Pippi films are enjoyable

By GENTRY TROTTER
for KMOX-TV

"The Gravy Train" is a no Jon picture which literally jumps up and down with fun, like a pogo stick.

This R-rated flick has more zing and thrills than your hair can stand.

Columbia Pictures' "The Gravy Train" starring Stacy Keach and Frederic Forrest is a tightly woven story about two bachelors who become involved in a lot of stealing.

For the pure sake of entertaining escapism, the film is great. It receives my rating of three for good.

"Pippi" is a sharp-talent motion picture for all of the lollipop crowd.

After seeing "Pippi" and its enjoyable pirate adventures, including a hidden treasure, I can describe the movie as relaxing, and I recommend it for all ages.

I rate it as good.

This is my needle and thread. I must tell you about a play at the Plantation Dinner Theater which isn't so well stitched.

"Don't Drink The Water" was once a Woody Allen masterpiece until most of the cast and the director got hold of it at the Plantation.

The exciting story of people being trapped in the U.S. Embassy, and love beginning to blossom all over the place, just doesn't make it in the theater in the round.

Mainly, because the director's positions were clumsy and some of the cast didn't capture the spirits of the characters.

However, I must give two roses to Henrietta Jacobson and her actor-husband Julius Adler for a graceful attempt.

The pair really has natural wit and beautiful antics, but the odds were against them. I rate the play as fair.

Series on U.S. artists

"Artists in America," a series of 11 programs depicting a local artist, his philosophy, environment, technique and work — begins Friday, Aug. 16, at 8:30 p.m. on KETC-TV, Channel 9.

The programs constitute a series of individual portraits of representative living artists in the United States and their creative works.

Peter Alexander, featured in the first program, is a young Los Angeles sculptor, caught up in the contemporary California art scene.

The program is a comprehensive portrait of the multifaceted side of Alexander's life: color mixing and casting his pieces, relaxing with family and friends, and visiting one of his most enthusiastic collectors, actor Sterling Holloway.

Also appearing on "Artists in America" this month are Singer Roberta Flack (Aug. 23) and James Saller, an experimental filmmaker (Aug. 30).

Future guests include, among others, Jules Feiffer, Lightnin' Hopkins and Howard Jones.

A viewer's guide with background information on each of the 11 artists is available free to Channel 9 members. Requests for this material may be sent to: Membership Services, KETC-TV, Channel 9, 6996 Millbrook Blvd., St. Louis, Mo. 63130.

Support

speech makes it difficult to grant him immunity. Author Stahke contended during the weekend. He is department chairman of government and public affairs at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

"I think he sees himself as being placed in a position where he had to do some things that were wrong in and of themselves for the higher good of the country," he said.

"In a way, Thursday's speech was surprising and yet not. It was a non-political speech. He didn't do himself any good. My overriding reaction is that Nixon cannot admit to himself that he is culpable," Stahke said.

"Edward Brooke, U.S. senator from Massachusetts, who introduced the immunity resolution, said he would vote against his own resolution if Nixon didn't admit culpability. The tone of the speech was such it may suggest he wouldn't want to plea bargain — because to do so, would admit guilt," Stahke said.

"Since the speech, Nixon has almost become secondary. Now it is Gerald Ford's day," Stahke said.

"Our system has weaknesses, but one of its strengths provides for a smooth transition of power."

"Mr. Ford will have the support of all Americans, much like President Johnson following the assassination of President Kennedy. There will be no contest for power today, tomorrow or next week. All agree that Mr. Ford should be President, even if we disagree with his policy positions," Stahke said.

"I'm pleased and resigned will be first and foremost in the minds of historians rating the Nixon administration. Everything else discussed about Mr. Nixon will be in that context," Stahke said.

"We've never before had a President who resigned. History tends to look at these actions or developments which have an important impact on the system," Stahke said.

"It sets a precedent. We know how now how powerless a President can become when he loses all bases of support. We know now what it takes to remove a President from office."

Stahke said he expects

Flood work by Salvation Army

Extensive flood relief work by the Salvation Army in Rapid City, S. Dak., two years ago was shown in a film at last week's Granite City Rotary luncheon. The motion picture was introduced by Major Leon Turner, SA director of public relations for Missouri and Southern Illinois, who also cited disaster assistance led by Capt. Ronald Kerley in the Chouteau Island area during the spring 1972 flood there.

He noted that the Salvation Army is now a federally-approved relief agency. Rotary President Walter Millon presided.

defense attorneys to call Mr. Nixon as a witness in the trials of Robert Haldean, John Ehrlichman and John Mitchell, all of whom face further prosecution for Watergate-related actions.

"Ford's administration should be an administration of conciliation. He will restore confidence to the office of the President. There will be no dramatic differences from Nixon's policies, but a significant change in style," Stahke predicted.

"Democrats are going to have access to him. Republicans are going to have access. Congress will have access to him and to the policy-making circles," Stahke said.

"For six months or more it will be impossible for Democrats to be partisan. The 'honeymoon' period will last that long. President Ford will move more cautiously and he will be available to the press," it was forecast.

High School Association is serving nearly 800 schools

What is the Illinois High School Association?

Contrary to some opinion, the I-H-S-A — the Illinois High School Association — may be compared to a representative democracy, its leaders say.

It is a non-profit, voluntary organization — composed of Illinois high schools and represented by their principals — that governs interscholastic activities.

Membership in the IHSA is open to all high schools recognized by the Office of Superintendent of Public Instruction. At present, there are nearly 800 member schools.

Here is how the representative democracy of the IHSA functions:

Member schools, through an elected board of directors and an elected legislative commission, sanction, supervise and control interscholastic activities.

The legislative commission, a 17-member body consisting of principals elected to three-year terms from geographic districts, functions as the IHSA's legislative screening committee.

Meeting annually, the commission considers all proposed changes to the constitution and bylaws.

Proposals recommended for approval by the commission following debate and discussion at each of the two meeting sessions, are submitted to the member schools in an annual referendum. Each school has one vote. Proposals become "law" if approved by a simple majority of votes cast.

The board of directors, consisting of principals elected to three-year terms from the state's six geographic divisions, determines IHSA policy, interprets the rules and employs an executive secretary and staff to aid in administering the programs of the association.

In addition, advisory committees — composed of principals, athletic directors, coaches and officials — in each activity are appointed by the board of directors to meet with the administrative staff yearly to review and make recommendations for change and improvement in their respective programs.

Seventy-one years ago, high school principals throughout the state felt a need for a broader and more unified leadership for their infant activities program.

In 1903, officers were elected and a constitution was established for the Illinois High School Athletic Association (predecessor of the IHSA).

In 1922, after tremendous growth, the association hired the nation's first full-time director.

Until 1940, the role of the association was supervision and control of only athletic programs. Since then, the jurisdiction of the IHSA has been extended to non-athletic activities as well.

In a nutshell, here is how the IHSA serves the youth of Illinois and the schools they attend:

1. It offers state championship athletic competition for boys in basketball, cross country, football, golf, gymnastics, soccer, swimming, tennis, track and field and wrestling.

2. It offers state championship athletic competition for girls in bowling, volleyball, tennis and track and field.

3. It offers state championship competition in music, speech and chess for all students.

4. It offers leadership camps and a year-round program of Girls' Athletic Association (or similarly designed) activities for girls.

5. It provides a catastrophe accident insurance program for students participating in interscholastic activities.

6. Through its Officials Department, it provides member schools with a listing of over 7,000 athletic officials for both boys' and girls' competition, each registered with the association. In addition, it provides all registered officials with up-to-date rules information, training and sport-related educational opportunities, and establishes methods for advancement in qualification and standing.

7. It establishes rules to maintain eligibility standards, to prevent exploitation of high school students by non-educational agencies, and to protect health and welfare of participants in interscholastic activities.

8. It maintains a channel of communication between member schools through its monthly periodical, the Illinois Interscholastic, and numerous direct mailings.

9. It publishes and distributes annually an Official Handbook (Book No. 1, which contains the constitution and bylaws and other data, and Book No. 2, which contains a directory of registered officials.)

From 1922 until July 1, 1974, the IHSA office was located in Chicago's Loop at 11 South LaSalle St. Now, the headquarters of the association is situated in a new building at 2715 McGraw Drive, Bloomington.

Participation in interscholastic activities is a privilege unique to young people in American education, a spokesman comments. Schools have long provided opportunity for young people to participate in them because educators have firmly believed that such activities, if properly administered, offer student significant learning experiences, which cannot be duplicated elsewhere in the educational system.

It is the desire of the IHSA that the activities and services it provides enrich the educational experiences of high school students in Illinois, he concludes.

Meeting Tuesday on North soccer

Robert Kehoe, soccer coach at GCHS North, has announced that a special meeting will be held at 1 p.m. tomorrow in the Steeler gymnasium for all age level students who plan to participate in this year's soccer program.

Kehoe said forms for the players' parents to sign and physical examination forms will be available at the meeting. Steeler soccer practice is scheduled to start Aug. 19 and the season opener will be at home against Alton on Sept. 3.

Plan softball event

A 24-team double-elimination women's softball tournament will be hosted by the Granite City Park District from Monday, Aug. 26, through Wednesday at Wilson Park.

The tournament is open only to teams receiving entry forms on a first come entry basis. A $35 entry fee per team is required at time of entry.

1974 SUMMER ICE HOCKEY CHAMPIONS. Nine Quad-City area ice hockey players helped this team earn a 10-3-2 season record and the LeChateau (Fairview Heights) League title. The Kassidy Colonial squad defeated six straight opponents to earn top honors in this area. Steve Dioneda, both of GC. Standing, from the left, are Coach Otto Pondoff, Tom Pondoff, Belleville, Terry Bernaix, Gary Mainer and Bell Laub, all of GC, and John Gregowicz and Mark Allard, both of Belleville. Not shown are Granite Cityans Bob Shaul and Skip Hillman and Madison's Ken Sabol.

All-conquering Bubby Jones back for more super sprint car races

The "lightning and thunder" super sprint racing cars return to Tri-City Speedway, 5100 Nimeeki Road, Wednesday evening.

It will be the third time this year that the super sprint cars will be in action here. Danville's Bubby Jones again heads the contingent of drivers.

The youthful star of Midwest sprint car racing captured both previous events here. In the second appearance, he started fans and drivers alike by lapping the entire field in the 35-lap feature event.

"I've been racing a long time," remarked Bitt-Utz of Sedalia, Mo., who finished second behind Jones that day, "and I have had to settle for second place a number of times."

"I have been lapped by the winner before," Utz continued. "But that was the first time I had ever been lapped when I finished second."

Utz was the fastest qualifier in that July 17 program with a one-lap time of 22.98 seconds around the half-mile dirt oval. Jones was second in time trials with a 23.25-second tour.

Jones, after his last outing here, competed in the three-day "World Series of Sprint Car Racing" at West Memphis, Ark., the following Friday.

He set second fastest qualifying time, captured his heat race and took the feature race. Jones did not compete there that Saturday and Sunday due to mechanical problems.

In 41 feature race starts thus far this season, the former barber turned racer has captured 39 feature races and finished second six times and third five times, his most recent victory being on Aug. 4 at Springfield, Mo.

According to sources close to the Danville driver, Jones will be sporting a brand new race car for this Wednesday's events.

Time trials are to begin at 7:30 p.m. and the first heat race is scheduled to start at 8:30 p.m.

Postponed 4th time Braves defeat Lemay

"A team gets all keyed-up to play," said a Mercer baseball squad spokesman, "and it takes something out of it when the contest is postponed for the fourth consecutive time."

He was speaking of Thursday's scheduled Illinois Inter-City League game between Mercer and Highland-Pierron which again had to be rescheduled when H-P could not produce enough players to make a full squad.

The two teams originally were scheduled to have met July 28 but heavy rains forced the game to be rescheduled for July 30.

The latter date was called-off because of a conflict of scheduling with another league and the Mercer-Highland meet was set for this past Thursday.

According to Ollie Miller, president of the league, the contest now is to be held at 7 p.m. Wednesday, at Highland.

The Granite City baseball Braves gave ace hurler, Randy Lyerla, a three-run fourth inning, then coasted to the consolation championship of the Lemay Baseball Tournament with a 3-1 victory over the Bucs of Maryland Heights.

Lyerla, the workhorse of the Braves' pitching staff with an 8-2 record, then shackled the Bucs on five hits, walking one and striking out nine.

In the fourth, Ed Schmidt singled and advanced to third on Larry Schleicher's beseit. Jim Simpson drew a two out walk and two runners scored on a beseit by Brian Sikes. Simpson then scored on a wild pitch.

The Southwest Kiwanis Pros won the 18-team affair, defeating Fenton, Mo., 6-5 in 10 innings.

This week, the Braves face a busy non-league schedule. At 6 p.m. tomorrow the local squad travels to St. Louis for a game with Mathews-Dickey. Wednesday, the Braves play host at Wilson Park to the Park District All-Stars at 5 p.m. The Braves will host the Hazelwood Kirby Classics at 6 p.m. Thursday at Wilson Park.

This weekend's game with the Kiwanis Pros was rescheduled for Saturday with the time and place to be announced.

World Games wrestling crown is won by Gitcho

Granite City matman Jan Gitcho emerged from an annual World Games Tournament held Aug. 4-8 at Brockport, N.Y., as the 125-pound overall victor.

The former GCHS wrestling standout defeated NCAA champion Mark Massary 14-6 and 21-4 in first round action and then advanced to the championship match by defeating Dan Sherman, 16-4 and 6-2.

Sherman, a former NCAA champion, is the 1974 freestyle titleholder.

Gitcho took the championship bout by pinning University of Oklahoma wrestling star Norm Hatchett.

The local athlete and other U.S. wrestling team members presently are in training camp in New York, preparing for the World Games to be held later this month in Turkey.

Postpone tennis meet

Friday's scheduled Granite City All-Stars versus East St. Louis tennis meet was postponed by rain. The meet is to be rescheduled.

Issue cross-country equipment at South

Richard Harmon, GCHS South cross-country coach, reminded Warrior athletes during the weekend that the necessary equipment for that sport will be issued Thursday and Friday from 9 a.m. to 11 a.m. at the GCHS South gym.

Harmon said that practice sessions will begin at 8:30 a.m. Monday and all participating athletes must have physical examination forms completed and turned in before that date.

WHAT ABOUT RETIREMENT?

Divorced wife's benefits explained

By FRANK CORRIK

Q. I have heard from several sources that a divorced wife is eligible for her ex-husband's Social Security in the event of his death even though he has remarried. Is this true and how does one apply for it? — Mrs. R.T.

A. A surviving divorced wife may be eligible to receive benefits if she is age 60 (age 50 if she is severely disabled), is not married and has been married to the deceased for at least 20 years prior to his death. You may apply at your nearest Social Security office.

Q. Do many persons plan for retirement? — C.Y.

A. Within 70 years, according to retirement experts, there will be more retired workers than on-the-job workers. However, surveys show that only about three out of 10 individuals are doing much planning for retirement. What planning is done is largely vague and woolly along both personal and financial lines.

In a sampling of people over 40, the majority simply believe that the retirement years will be a pleasant period. They anticipate few problems — not even inflation.

Consider these four aspects of retirement planning, to be looked at sooner rather than later: (1) Find satisfying activities to replace working.

(2) Prepare emotionally for the change in your life-style; (3) make provisions for health problems that may come with aging; (4) work out a financial plan to guarantee adequate income.

Q. Where may we obtain "Tax Guides for Seniors"? — D.J.T.

A. You can get a copy by writing for "Protecting Older Americans Against Overpayment of Income Taxes." It is a checklist of itemized deductions.

This checklist was compiled by the Senate Special Committee on Aging and is a useful guide for persons who itemize their allowable deductions. It can be obtained by sending $5 to the Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. 20540.

Q. I was told that regardless of how much I earn after age 65 I will receive Social Security checks each month but they will deduct more from my earnings. Is that right? — S.R.

A. Whether or not you receive Social Security benefits will depend on how much you earn. You are allowed to earn up to $2,400 in 1974 and still receive all of your Social Security benefits. If you earn more than $2,400 you will lose some benefits. For every $2 you earn over $2,400 you lose $1 in benefits. (Exception: You can collect benefits for any month you earn $200 or less.)

HEALTH'S-A-POPPIN'

Think of back when lifting

The way you lift makes a big difference. Swedish studies measured the stress lifting placed on one particular disk in the back and found that lifting incorrectly could just about double the pressure.

To lift with less effort and strain, orthopedic specialists and safety experts suggest keeping these basic principles in mind.

Because of the way gravity works, you'll be steeper if you have a broader base of support. If you can, begin lifting by facing the load squarely and placing your feet about six inches to a foot apart, with one foot positioned alongside the load and the other placed a little behind. If you're right-handed, your left foot should be in front. Get as close to the load as you can.

To lessen the burden your back has to bear, let other muscles in the body help out. Position your legs to take the stress of the load by bending your knees and lowering yourself into a sort of squatting position. Never bend over from the waist and lift with your knees straight.

It will be easier to lift if you can first place the load on its edge or corner so it's a few inches off the ground. As you begin to handle the load, a good grip and maintain a "load" your back must bear.

How can you take a load off your back? The weight of the load you lift is not the only thing which determines the "load" your back must bear.

Be it a suitcase, a laundry basket, a trash can or a piece of furniture, lifting is an activity that most of us do every day and think very little about. Yet, according to orthopedic specialist Robert G. Addison, M.D., lifting improperly can get you into more trouble than any other activity involving your back.

If you already have back trouble, your back specialist may advise you to avoid lifting things whenever possible. Many of us, however, still have the chance to avoid unnecessary strain and pain and give our back a break by learning to lift correctly.

When you're lifting an object, you're under more gravitational pressure because of the more weight, the weight of your body and the weight of the load. If the stress becomes too much for your back, strain or injury is apt to occur. It may be in the form of a strained or pulled muscle, a pinched nerve, injury to a shock-absorbing disk in your spine or even cracked vertebrae.

Miss Peggy Smolich was elected president of the Fair Oaks Garden Club at a meeting conducted in the home of Mary Lou Metcalf, 2112 Lindell Blvd.

Other officers who will serve for the ensuing year are Susan Sigitte, vice-president; Mary Lou Metcalf, secretary and Doug Foster, treasurer.

Installation of officers will be held at the September meeting in the home of Mrs. E. H. Hies, 2200 Bern Ave., club sponsor.

Members are being asked to suggest ideas for a cover to be used on the new yearbooks.

Others present at the meeting were Jennifer Herman, Randy and Vince Sigitte and Terri Kaye Hies.

STOLEN CAR WRECKED
 The 1974 auto of Erwin Porter, 2300 Nameoki Road, was stolen from his home and later found by police wrecked in the 1700 block of Madison Avenue at 2:20 a.m. Sunday. The owner, who had not known it was missing, was notified.

 The Pontoon Beach Village Board agreed Thursday night to purchase a radar calibration gun for use by the village police department in determining the speeds of autos in the village. The cost will be about $950, the trustees were told.

TELEVISION THEFT
 A portable television was taken in a burglary at the home of David Levy, 1628 Second St., Madison, it was reported at 12:48 a.m. Saturday. Entry was gained by breaking a rear door window.

Mrs. Jean Barnes of Edwardsville entertained the July Twelve Pinocle Club at her home Thursday. A noon luncheon was served by the hostess and the remainder of the time was spent at games.

Those excelling and winning awards were Mrs. Ernest Steenberg, first; Mrs. Pauline Stephens, second; Mrs. Mildred Greay, a guest, third; and Mrs. Penny Ousley, fourth. Mrs. Barnes received the consolation prize.

Also attending the party were Mrs. Kathryn Smithson and Mrs. Verna Michel. Mrs. Mable Lehne will entertain the club at its next meeting.

ty Council points out that your fingers alone have much less strength than your whole hand. If possible, extend your hands under the load or around it, depending on the object being lifted.

Experts recommend first lifting the load with the arms and easing it onto your forward knee — your left knee if you're right-handed. For better lifting, throw your left arm under the load as close as possible to your body while holding arms and elbows close to the body.

Now you can stand, letting your legs do a lot of the work while maintaining a firm grip. Make your movements slow and smooth, not jerky. It's best not to lift a heavy object above the waist.

Here are a few extra tips for lifting safety. Avoid twisting while lifting. The National Safety Council calls this "... one of the most common causes of back injury." Point your forward foot outward in the direction you're planning to carry the load before you begin to lift. While carrying, turn by using your feet.

If you keep your back fairly straight while lifting, your back and body organs will be in better alignment and you'll run less risk of a hernia. Your head and neck should continue the straight line of your back.

40,000 boaters are unregistered

More than 40,000 Illinois boaters have so far failed to renew their boat certificates which expired June 30, and as a result are running their craft illegally, according to figures from the Illinois Department of Conservation.

"Boat owners who failed to re-register their craft are in violation of Illinois boating laws," Tony Dean, department director said. "As operators of illegal watercraft, they are subject to arrest."

Dean pointed out that boat owners who have re-registered their boats retain the certificate numbers, but persons failing to send in their $4 must remove the numbers and add new ones that are assigned when they do register.

"Because of the time and expense to the boater we have not yet cancelled numbers that have failed to re-register," Dean said. "Persons who renew their certificates immediately will be allowed to retain their old registration number."

Dean said that boaters who send for a new certificate should use a money order rather than a check if they intend to use their craft before they receive their new certificate. The money order stub will be honored by conservation police officers.

Banahan-Wright wedding at St. Margaret Mary

St. Margaret Mary Catholic Church was the scene of the wedding on Aug. 2 of Miss Leslie Anne Wright, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rodney L. Wright, 3112 Colgate Place, and Benjamin Franklin Banahan, son of Dr. B. F. Banahan Jr. and Mrs. Hart A. Banahan, both of Jackson, Miss.

The Rev. Edward Groesch performed the double ring nuptial service at 7:30 p.m. before an altar adorned with arrangements of white gladioli and yellow carnations. White satin bows marked the family pews.

Wedding selections, including "Sunrise," "Sunset," "The Wedding Song" and "More," were sung by Mrs. Margaret MacZura. She was accompanied at the organ by James Havrenok.

Mr. Wright escorted his daughter down the white carpeted aisle and gave her in marriage. She selected a princess style gown fashioned of white crystal peau made with a scoop neckline and cap sleeves embellished with Venice lace.

A deep flounce, edged with matching lace, encircled the skirt and sweeping train.

Her fingertip length veil of bridal illusion was held in place by a white crystal peau bow trimmed with Venice lace. She carried bouquet of white roses, carnations and lily of the valley centered in a garland of ruffled lace.

Attending the bride were Miss Lynda Jo Thomas, maid of honor; and Miss Laurie Wright, a sister of the bride, Miss Jean Mikes, a cousin of the bride, Miss Beekie Banahan, the groom's sister, bridesmaids.

Each attendant was gowned in a long princess style dress of tiny yellow and white check gingham, enhanced with white eyelet trim. They held white baskets filled with yellow and white daisies intermingled with baby breath and yellow statice.

The flower girl, Jennifer Banahan, a sister of the groom, was dressed in a frock similar in style to the adult attendant's gown. She carried a small basket of flowers.

A brother of the groom, John A. Banahan, served as best man. Max Brown, Steve Graves and Craig Colten were groomsmen and ushers.

Guests were received by the newly married couple at a reception held at the Officer's Club at the Granite City Army Installation. Miss Julie Mikes, a cousin of the bride, attended the guest book.

A rehearsal dinner was served to the bridal party at the Collinsville Holiday Inn, hosted by the groom's family.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Wright chose a formal length gown of muted pink and yellow floral organza made with puff sleeves and deep cuffs. Her accessories were in white and she wore a corsage of pink Sweetheart roses.

Mrs. Banahan, mother of the groom, was attired in a long gown fashioned of green and white print organza with long flowing sleeves. She wore a white orchid corsage and white accessories.

The former Miss Wright is a graduate of Granite City High School and attended Louisiana State University. She presently is a junior student at the University of Mississippi, majoring in journalism.

Her husband was graduated in 1970 from Murrah High School in Jackson, Miss., and received a B.S. degree in psychology from Louisiana State University this year.

Presently, he is associated with the Heart Association of Mississippi.

After a wedding trip the newly married couple will reside in Oxford, Miss.

Out-of-town guests here for the wedding were Benjamin R. Burke, Mr. and Mrs. Herschel Smith, the groom's grandparents, Mrs. Elizabeth Banahan, grandmother of the groom, Dr. and Mrs. B. F. Banahan Jr., all of Jackson, Miss.; Mr. and Mrs. John Anderson of Flora, Miss.; Miss Gay Sandoz, Baton Rouge, La.; Miss Kathryn Einhardt of Howell, Mich.

Low profile for politicians at State Fair

By KEN WATSON
Press-Record
Springfield Bureau

Politics will have a low profile throughout this year's Illinois State Fair, currently in progress.

Although both Republican and Democratic state organizations have some events scheduled, they will be low key affairs and generally limited to the professional party workers. Mingling by candidates with fairgoers will be minimized.

Political professionals are facing the facts of contemporary life. Politicians are not at the height of popularity with the public.

Reports flowing into the capital city from county fairs and town homecomings is that campaigning candidates are meeting with unprecedented indifference, if not outright hostility, from many potential voters. This is especially true as far as incumbents are concerned.

The vast shadow of Watergate broods over all current officeholders and, in Illinois, members of the legislature are receiving a massive cold shoulder from voters who remember the recent session chiefly for its pay hike attempt and overtime wrangling.

Legislative candidates who venture out to public gatherings are often asked the question,

"Are you in now?" If the candidate can give assurance that he is not, he might win a handshake and even the promise of a vote in November.

From throughout Illinois, the reports are about the same. Despite Watergate, party affiliation does not make much difference.

Perhaps in Illinois the conviction of former Gov. Otto Kerner and some other high-ranking Democrats may be a factor. But, in general, there is a sense of an unprecedented reaction against all those who are in.

Collectively, it appears that any person holding public office in 1974 is held somewhat accountable for what is recognized as widespread administrative and legislative failure in government.

Regular party organizations often are disdained by the electorate and the lack of any truly popular leaders on the national and state levels rules out any massive rallies that once were an integral part of State Fair week.

Perhaps the biggest day attendance-wise the State Fair ever had was in 1954, when then Sen. Dwight Eisenhower came here to campaign for the unsuccessful Republican U. S. Senate candidate of that year, Joseph T. Meek.

Even most Democrats conceded that Pres. Eisenhower drew well over 200,000. It was almost impossible to find standing room near the grandstand where the formal speaking program was held.

In 1952, both Democrats and Republicans had huge turnouts at the Fair. The late Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson was the Democratic candidate for President that year and his program attracted nationwide attention.

That year, too, Richard M. Nixon made an appearance, campaigning for a first term as Vice President. Illinoisans thronging to Springfield to see and hear the young senator created long traffic jams all around the fairgrounds.

Probably the last big political rally at the Illinois Fair was in the mid-1960s, when Democrats staged a huge national tribute for highly popular Gov. Otto Kerner.

Mayor Richard Daley personally led more than 100 Chicago Democratic party loyalists, plus thousands more from Downstate, in a colorful parade past the grandstand reviewing stand.

Presidency by resignation and Otto Kerner languishes in a federal penitentiary.

The great political days of the Illinois State Fair are over, perhaps forever.

If they do come back, it will be through the emergence of new leadership and possibly through development of a new political morality.

Until then, politicians will be keeping a low profile.

State vehicle fleet insurance cost cut

Insurance for the state of Illinois auto and truck fleet will cost $90,000 less this year than last, even though the new policy covers approximately 3,000 more on-the-road vehicles than the old policy, it was announced last week.

Announcement of the savings was made by Director Roland W. Burris of the Department of General Services, whose Procurement Division awarded the new policy contract to McGee and Mackin, Inc., a Chicago brokers firm.

Cost of the new policy is $785,913 for the first year, compared to $876,000 last year.

The policy is renewable for two more years if the premium cost does not increase more than $2,500 a year. Otherwise, the policy will be rebid. The policy became effective Aug. 8.

Burris said 19 firms bid on the new policy, with bids ranging up to $1,343,617. The firm which held the previous policy, George Herman and Co., bid $848,250.

A general liability insurance policy for claims not involving on-the-road vehicles was also awarded by Finance Director Elliott S. Epstein.

The successful bidder was the Heil and Heil Insurance Agency, Evanston, with a sliding scale bid that will cost the state a minimum of $61,450 and no more than $136,000.

The range bid was made because state specifications required the insurers to outline a loss control and safety program, and to make available to the state their expertise in safety engineering and other safety precautions, Epstein said.

Heil and Heil's minimum figure assumes that loss claims will be significantly reduced by the new safety measures. The maximum premium will be reduced to the extent losses are reduced.

Other bidders were Herman, which held the previous policy;

$99,700; and Daniel M. Glick and Co.: $241,602.

Herman was disqualified from the contract, however, because its bid excluded certain liabilities required under state bid specifications. Those liabilities were covered under the other two bids.

Recommendations for contract awards for both insurance policies were made by Donald R. Schieck, manager of the division of insurance and risk management of the Department of Finance.

In making the recommendation on the general liability policy, Schieck informed Director Epstein of a telephone call he received from the Herman and Co. vice president of marketing, Robert Klein. Klein gave Schieck "a piece of friendly advice" that there would be publicity in a Springfield newspaper if the policy went to Heil and Heil, Schieck alleged.

Noting that Schieck was "new in Chicago," Klein alleged said: "If you award the bid to Heil and Heil, a Springfield paper could very easily get a hold of the story and, not just the state, but you personally could be in for a lot of adverse criticism and publicity."

Since Herman and Co. failed to meet the bid specifications and Heil and Heil was the lowest bidder to meet the specifications, Schieck recommended Heil and Heil, he said.

Preschoolers to register

Parents may register youngsters Tuesday for the Granite City Park District's fall-winter preschool program. Those eligible to participate are children who will have reached the age of 4 years by Oct. 1, 1974, and who reside within the park district boundaries.

Registration will be conducted from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. Tuesday at the Wilson Park office, Harold Brown, park superintendent, said today.

Classes will begin in September at Nameoki Recreation Center. Proof of residency, such as a utility bill receipt, is required at the time of registration, Brown said.

With exception of a daily fee of 10 cents for refreshments, no charge is made park district residents taking part in the preschool program, the officer said.

Children attend classes twice weekly. The program features games, singing and storytelling, among other activities appealing to the preschool age level, Brown noted.

Kiwanians hear youth worker

Bill Striplan, a graduate of the University of Alabama and a VISTA (Volunteers In Service to America) worker in Madison, was the speaker at the Breakfast Kiwanis Club meeting Thursday at Charlie's Restaurant.

He was the guest of Kiwanian Mark Yehling.

Working with the Madison County Housing Authority, Striplan explained that during the past year he has been working in developing programs for children and getting them active in groups like Boy Scouts and the YMCA.

He said, that they have organized ball teams, dances and movies. They also are building new playground equipment and hope to get a day care center started.

He said, "I have found the people of the area" good down-to-earth people who are highly motivated to improve their way of life."

Provable wheat yield deadline

Wheat producers desiring to have their 1975 farm program wheat yield based on actual production rather than on the basis of Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee judgment must file a request with the local ASC office at Edwardsville by Sept. 1, Charles C. Losch, chairman of the Madison County ASC Committee, has announced.

Farm program yields will be used in the event a wheat payment is made under the 1975 program.

Provisions of the Agriculture and Consumer Protection act of 1973 require that farm proven wheat yields for 1975 be based on production data for the 1969-1973 base period.

Generally, to prove a yield, the farm must have had an allotment and harvested an acreage of wheat in each of those years.

Reliable proof of production and disposition must be furnished the ASCS office for County Committee consideration. Losch said this provision applies only to wheat, as the law does not authorize the ASC service to set feed grain yields on proof of production. Interested wheat producers must contact their local ASC office by the Sept. 1 date to receive consideration, Losch added.

The new legislation requires that producers who plan to prove their yields for 1975 and future programs must furnish evidence of production for 1974 and each year thereafter in the year of production. Therefore, 1974 production evidence must be furnished now by interested producers.

Seek annual independent audits of insurance firms

A public hearing will be held on Aug. 16 by the Illinois Department of Insurance on its proposal to require annual independent audits for insurance companies doing business in the state.

The proposed rule represents a major change in the customary methods used to monitor financial activities of the state-regulated insurance industry.

Fred A. Mauck, Illinois

insurance director, has said the proposal results from a determination that the traditional system of financial examinations of insurance companies by department auditors is inadequate.

He pointed out that shareholders of publicly-held corporations are provided annually with independently verified financial information, but that policyholders of insurance companies and state insurance regulators never have received such independently verified information.

While insurance companies are required to file annual financial statements with the department, annual independent audits never have been required.

He said that while many insurance companies have employed independent accounting firms, these auditors never have been required to certify the results of their audits to state regulators.

Mauck noted that general accounting principles used in determining a company's financial condition for reporting to its stockholders differ in many respects from the more financially conservative statutory accounting practices

GRANITE CITY PRESS-RECORD

required under the Illinois insurance code.

He emphasized that the Illinois insurance department is not abolishing departmental regulatory examinations, but that the requirement for annual independent verification of financial statements filed with the department will free examiners to focus on problem areas and permit more timely regulatory action.

"If review of the certified statement by the department's audit division identifies areas of concern and potential problems in an individual company's operation, department examiners then will conduct a detailed, on-site examination," Mauck continued.

The proposed rule also includes several other safeguards, reporting instructions and other provisions. Details of the program have been under development for over a year, according to James K. Steen, deputy director of the department's financial-regulatory branch.

"We are preparing accounting manuals to provide ready reference for company accountants and financial officers, independent CPAs, actuaries and others responsible for financial reports prepared according to statutory accounting practices," Steen said.

The two manuals, one for life, accident and health insurance, and one for property and casualty insurance, will be published early this fall.

It is believed that these manuals will represent the first comprehensive guide to insurance accounting practices and procedures ever published by a state insurance department.

The hearing Friday will be held in the main hearing room of the Illinois Commerce Commission on the 18th floor of the State of Illinois Building at 160 North LaSalle St., Chicago.

Business master's program for women

The School of Business of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will offer a program leading to the master degree in business administration this fall, designed especially for women.

The "Ms. Biz" program is designed to help women holding baccalaureate degrees, either in business or other disciplines, to acquire high-level management skills in a maximum of two years as part-time students.

Students must complete two courses per quarter to graduate in two years. The morning classes will meet on Tuesdays and Thursdays.

"For years, we've tried to meet the needs of individuals who worked during the day and could attend classes a couple of evenings a week.

"We found this didn't meet all the needs of the community. Some individuals had other commitments at night. They traveled away from home during the week or needed to be with their families. They couldn't get away," James Miller, assistant dean of School of Business, said.

"We added a weekend program taught on a three-day format. Then we realized it would be difficult for women with families, especially those with children at home, to be away from home either at night or on weekends. So we are now introducing an additional option for women," he said. Prospective students can get additional information from the SIUE School of Business.

Five student workers hurt

Five student workers at the Mississippi River Festival were injured last week in two incidents.

Kathleen J. Cramer, 21, of 470 Warnock Ave., Granite City, was admitted to Wood River Township Hospital suffering from shock after a scuffle in the student worker parking lot following a rock concert.

Nick Casner, 20, Wood River, and Wayne Dugge, 23, Alton, were both treated at the hospital for head lacerations but were not admitted.

Miss Cramer was reported later to be in good condition by hospital authorities.

Deborah Ross, 22, of 403 Tower Lake, and Catherine M. Blouin, 21, Wood River, were injured when members of the concert audience rushed the reserved seating area.

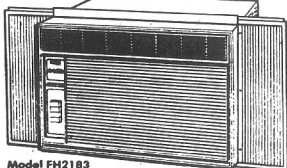

Miss Ross lost a tooth when she was slapped in the mouth, and also suffered a cut lip. Miss Blouin was knocked down. Both were treated as outpatients at Wood River and were released.

MR. AND MRS. JAMES MULLIGAN. They were united in marriage at Tri-City Park Tabernacle. The bride is the former Miss Glenda Kay Green, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Luby Green of Collinsville.

Glenda Green married in evening ceremony

Miss Glenda Kay Green, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Luby Green, Rural Route Two, Collinsville, and James Dorian Mulligan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Mulligan, Holiday Mobile Home Park, Granite City, exchanged wedding vows on Aug. 2 at Tri-City Park Tabernacle.

The Rev. John Polizzi performed the double ring ceremony at 7:30 in the evening. A program of nuptial music was played during the service by the church organist.

Escorted down the aisle by her father, the former Miss Green was attired in a full length polyester gown fashioned with a fitted bodice, long sheer sleeves and an A-line skirt.

A gathered ruffle of Venice lace inserted with navy blue satin ribbon and accented with navy blue flowers created a V design on the bodice and formed the standup collar.

The cuffs, skirt hem and chapel train were edged in the same lace and ribbon trim.

Her cathedral length veil of illusion was secured to a lace caplet and she carried a bouquet of white carnations centered with two red roses.

The maid of honor, Miss Terrie Coles, and bridesmaids, Mrs. Alice Payne, Miss Marilyn Walker and Mrs. Cheryl Newell, a sister of the groom, were dressed alike in daron polyester print gowns embellished with tiny blue flowers.

The Empire bodices were designed with square necklines, short puff sleeves and slightly full skirts, terminating at the hem in a gathered flounce.

Pale blue and white Venice lace marked the necklines, sleeves and high rise waists.

Each attendant wore a Navy blue picture hat with light blue ribbon bands and held an arrangement of blue and white carnations festooned with blue streamers.

Timmie Brown, the ringbearer, escorted Terisa Peck, the flower girl.

Attending the groom as best man was Harry P. Coles. Groomsman and ushers included Robert Yates, the bride's cousin, Donnie Mulligan and Dana Rife.

A reception was given in the church hall immediately following the service.

The couple is now residing in Collinsville. Following a wedding trip to the Lake of the Ozarks, Mo.

The bride is planning to enroll in a nurses training school this fall. Her husband is employed at Lakeside Roofing Co., Granite City.

Miss Martha Kovarik and John P. Brockus are wed

The marriage of Miss Martha L. Kovarik and John P. Brockus was solemnized at 7 o'clock Friday evening at St. Cecilia Catholic Church in Glen Carbon, with the Rev. William Stanley officiating.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Kovarik, Rural Route Four, Edwardsville. The groom is a son of Mrs. Fannie Brockus, Rural Route Three, Edwardsville, formerly of Granite City, and the late William C. Brockus.

A program of wedding selections was furnished by the organist, Richard Bakos. Keith Curtis was the soloist.

Escorted down the white carpeted aisle and given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an Empire style gown and a gossamer lace mantilla veil.

Long puff lace sleeves were tightly gathered at the wrists and set into a fitted lace bodice with a stand up collar. A tiny white satin ribbon defined the crescent neckline.

The contraption skirt of polyester mist was bordered with matching lace and fell gently in the back into a cathedral length train. She carried a bouquet of white roses and white chrysanthemums, interspersed with sky blue united daisies.

Miss Amy Kovarik, a sister of the bride, was her only attendant. She chose a full length frock of light blue chiffon over blue silk fashioned in an Empire design with long sheer sleeves.

She wore a wide brimmed white hat with blue ribbon streamers and held a white umbrella filled with white daisies and yellow chrysanthemums.

The groom chose Larry Lexow as his best man.

Escorting the guests to their seats were Henry Reynolds and Don Parker.

Guests were received by the newly married Mr. and Mrs. Brockus at a reception given in the church hall following the ceremony.

After a honeymoon trip to Florida, the couple will reside in Champaign, Ill., where both are enrolled at the University of Illinois.

Andrea Marlette becomes Mrs. Glenn L. Lackey

Star bouquets of red and white summer blossoms, arranged with lighted red and white candles, created the setting for the wedding on Saturday afternoon of Miss Andrea L. Marlette and Glenn L. Lackey at Suburban Baptist Church.

Major Charles Harding, chaplain at the Granite City Army Installation, performed the double ring ceremony at 3 o'clock.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. James L. Marlette, 3043 Mockingbird Lane. The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Cook, Rural Route One, Granite City.

Andrea Marlette, a cousin of the bride, sang "You'll Never Walk Alone" and "Love Story." She was accompanied at the organ by Wayne Fisher.

Lighting the candles prior to the service were Toni and Sandra Marlette, the bride's cousins.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the former Miss Marlette wore a long gown of white voile over taffeta. Chantilly lace accented the mandarin collar and formed the cuffs of long, full sleeves.

She wore a Juliet cap to secure her bridal veil and she carried a bouquet of red roses.

Red and white voile gowns made in A-line style trimmed with white lace and complemented with white picture hats were worn by the bride attendants. Their bouquets were arrangements of red roses and greenery.

The maid of honor was Miss Dana Marlette and the bridesmaids were Mrs. Debra Terry and Miss Michelle Marlette. All are sisters of the bride.

Jillie Nicole Marlette and Melissa Nicole Terry, a sister and niece of the bride, respectively, were flower girls. They wore white voile frocks trimmed in red and headbands of tiny red roses. Each carried a white basket filled with red roses.

The groom chose his brother, Gerald M. Lackey, as best man. Groomsman and ushers were Larry Marlette, an uncle of the bride; Matthew Lackey, the groom's brother, and Thomas and Edward Cook, stepbrothers of the groom.

Tommy Naler, a cousin of the bride, served as ringbearer. A reception was given after the service at the church. A party followed for members of the immediate families hosted by Louis Marlette, an uncle of the bride, in his home, 2300 Linton Ave.

Dalton-Watkins ceremony at New Bethel Baptist

A double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. William Dewey at 4 p.m. on Aug. 3 at the New Bethel Baptist Church uniting in marriage Miss Kay Watkins and Lawrence Dalton.

Miss Donna Hindman presided at the organ and furnished a program of wedding selections during the service.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas R. Watkins, 2643 Edwards St., and the groom is a son of Mrs. Calandina King, 2415 Sken St., Madison.

For her wedding, the former Miss Watkins chose an organ gown complemented with a floral lace trim on the long sheer sleeves, around the high neckline and on the bodice.

Matching lace created a panel on the skirt, designed with a flounced chapel train.

She wore a lace headpiece to secure a melody length veil and she held a bouquet of white carnations and pink roses.

Miss Rita Dalton served as her sister's honor attendant. She was attired in a full length yellow dress, featuring long sleeves and high neckline traced with a delicate white lace.

She wore a yellow ribbon in her hair with long streamers and she carried a bouquet of white carnations and yellow mums.

The groom selected John Goodman as his best man and Gary Ward as usher.

A reception for guests was given at the Horseshoe Lake Rod and Gun Club immediately following the ceremony.

The newly married couple is residing at 812 Layton Road, East St. Louis, following a wedding trip to the Ozark region of Missouri.

Mr. Dalton is employed at the St. Louis Shipyards.

Instruction in writing

An English writing minor is offered at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville for people not majoring in English or the field of humanities who like to write.

The writing minor requires 24 quarter hours of writing credit. Most of the classes are conducted as workshops, with students and the instructor discussing manuscripts during class.

A lot of housewives, businessmen and other members of the community may like to try a writing course. It's an opportunity for them to see what they can do," Dan Havens, director of writing studies, said.

Directed writing is an important feature of the writing minor. Students can take up to eight quarter hours of independent writing for credit. Assignments may include feature stories, short stories, essays, fiction, poetry or other forms of writing.

Creative Writing: Fiction I and Creative Writing: Poetry II will be offered this fall at the university.

Advanced composition: Expository Writing, Thesis Writing (for graduate students outside the English concentration), Creative Writing: Poetry I and Technical Writing will be offered during the winter quarter.

President Ford enters office after unprecedented events but with public confidence he will lead America conscientiously toward appropriate goals

"Our Constitution works." This assertion—made by President Gerald R. Ford immediately after taking the oath as this nation's 38th chief executive Friday—sums up much of the reason why he has had to take up the burdens of the Presidency less than a year after the second President Richard M. Nixon's second four-year term.

The Oval Office was vacated by resignation—the first time this has occurred in the 198-year history of the United States. But the voluntary departure of the 37th President was clearly the result of the Constitutional process of impeachment.

The House Judiciary Committee already had recommended three articles of impeachment, and all parties were in agreement last week that there would be a unanimous vote by the House to impeach and by the Senate to convict and remove Mr. Nixon from office.

In his resignation announcement over nationwide television Thursday night, Mr. Nixon cited as the primary factor the loss of his political base in the legislative branch. This situation was related directly to his long attempts to withhold evidence and then his acknowledgement Aug. 5 that he had approved a political headquarters burglary cover-up and had deceived the public, prosecutors, legislators and the courts about his role.

It had been feared by many that the impending removal of a President would shake the republic to its foundation. But citizens took the transfer of the office in stride—all sorry about the chain of events, with some urging no further action against Mr. Nixon and others favoring full disclosure of remaining evidence, followed by prosecution if warranted by the facts.

Americans certainly are united in their hope that Mr. Ford will prove to be an effective President. House Speaker Carl Albert, next in line for the top office until a new Vice President is appointed and confirmed, aptly noted Thursday evening that when a President succeeds, the nation and world also are likely to be succeeding.

Unquestionably, for many months there will be cordiality and cooperation between the branches of government, and President Ford told the nation Friday that he will seek to foster such a progressive atmosphere by his actions and policies.

Specific priorities will not be outlined to the House and Senate until this week, but he emphasized that there will be "openness and candor" with "no reservation" that "honesty is the best policy."

Mr. Ford plans frequent

"straight talk to friends," rather than divisive oratory. Aware that he was not elected to national office, he hopes that he nevertheless will be "confirmed" as a bonafide occupant of the White House by Americans' prayers.

He himself has held elective office for most of his adult life, serving in Congress 25 years and attaining the position of House minority leader prior to becoming Vice President in December 1973.

Asserting that Mr. Nixon had sought peace for millions of people and voicing hope that the former President himself will find peace, Mr. Ford nevertheless pointed out that the new chief executive "is indebted to no man." He pledged to be "President of all the people."

Mr. Ford is not well known to many citizens, but there is widespread belief that he will be given "the benefit of the doubt." President Harry Truman was widely regarded as ill-equipped to handle the complex duties when they were placed on his shoulders suddenly. He deceived the public, grew in the office and—in the eyes of many—achieved great works through his sincere, common sense, feet-on-the-ground approach.

The new President for the period beginning Aug. 9, 1974, may have a quite similar attitude. He asserted, "I did not want to leave my responsibility, but I will not shrink it."

He added, "Truth is the glue that holds government together—not only this government, but civilization itself. I will work for the safety and sanity of the entire family of man, as well as our own precious freedoms."

"Our great republic is a government of laws and not men. The people rule, and a higher power of righteousness, love, justice and mercy, I will uphold the Constitution, will do what is right as God gives me to see the right. I will do the best I can for America; God helping me, I will not let you down."

"We must go forward together. It is late in an election year, but we are going to go forward, and we are going to go forward except together—no way anybody can 'win' except by meeting the people's urgent needs."

In this spirit, and with these worthy goals, President Ford begins his administration on a firm and steady basis, with the best of hearts and good wishes and prayers of his fellow citizens.

SPRINGFIELD — A long narrow strip has been cut from the edge of the classic photo of the two Jima flag-raising, and in the space thus created, in large black letters, is a single word: PRIDE.

It isn't by chance that it has its closest to the desk of William O. Brey, recently named head of the law enforcement division of the Illinois Conservation Department.

The photo, with its one-word message, is closer to Brey at his desk than the diplomats, the framed awards, certificates and commendations that a man accumulates in a lifetime of law enforcement work. He feels that photo sums up what he hopes to do as head of the 145-member law enforcement force.

To strengthen the feeling of pride in his men and their organization, Brey has begun a series of regional inspections of law enforcement units. The word will be repeated at least twice a year. One such inspection has already been held in each region and "they looked very good," he says, taking into consideration some deficiencies in equipment.

The Conservation Department and the state division of tourism are making a strong pitch to sell Illinois to its residents. "Illinois—it's right in your own backyard," they're saying. The chief says his business and his staff have already drawn up a comprehensive flood control program which has been filed with the Civil Defense office, should last year's grim flooding picture be repeated this year, or in the future. Last year, he says, some conservation officers spent as much as 80 days over-all in various flooded related duties such as evacuating the trapped, and protecting property.

Brey's father and brother have both retired from the police force at Evanston, Ill., where Brey himself started bring them right along into the parks.

Basically, he feels, his men are much like any municipal police force—with, of course, some differences. For instance, few municipal police are routinely issued a boat and trailer as part of their equipment, but most law enforcement officers are.

So much water safety work is included in his division, in fact, that Brey and his staff have already drawn up a comprehensive flood control program which has been filed with the Civil Defense office, should last year's grim flooding picture be repeated this year, or in the future. Last year, he says, some conservation officers spent as much as 80 days over-all in various flooded related duties such as evacuating the trapped, and protecting property.

Brey's father and brother have both retired from the police force at Evanston, Ill., where Brey himself started his law enforcement career. He held the rank of lieutenant when he left to become police chief at Normal, and subsequently was chief of police at Danville, the post he held when appointed by Conservation Director Tony Dean to his present position.

During the Korean conflict, Brey served with the U.S. Marines, and agrees that some of the traditional Marine "cockiness" probably has stayed with him.

He is a firm believer in the traditional chain of command, in discipline, in sharp uniforms neatly worn. He is the first law enforcement officer would probably call in state police or the I.B.I. to assist, he said, since they have more training and experience in these matters.

In fact, conservation police are available when needed by others. Brey said he was proud of the response of his men when a tornado hit Decatur recently, and 15 conservation officers spent two days there, aiding sheriff's officers and state police.

So far, in line with Brey's views on sharp training and discipline, all the supervisors have completed a two week training program at the state police academy, and all the others have gotten in at least one week-long in-service training program on such subjects as changes in statutes, and other law enforcement issues. More of these brush-up courses will be conducted in future, he said, and all men on the force are being encouraged to pursue, on their own, outside courses of study related to the field.

do his job—and the job can be grueling. His men will be encouraged to get in good physical shape and stay that way. And he insists that every man hired in future will be chosen strictly on ability and test results, not politics.

Outside state owned or managed properties, the law enforcement staff are like any other citizens—subject to call to aid other law enforcement bodies as needed. Inside their own jurisdiction, they have all the authority of any law enforcement officer. In the case of the really unusual, like a homicide or a kidnapping, the conservation officer would probably call in state police or the I.B.I. to assist, he said, since they have more training and experience in these matters.

Housing in U.S. facing a disaster

To the Editor:

Today's housing needs are at the highest levels ever as the postwar generation comes of age and moves into the housing market.

The housing industry has been increasingly cut back and handicapped in meeting these needs.

Volume is down by nearly one-half from last year; building permits, which forecast new construction, are down even more.

Housing costs are rising, propelled by ruinous rates of interest, skyrocketing materials price increases, unsustainable wage demands, and land and building restrictions.

Unless changes are made, the postwar generation will not have the same housing opportunities that their parents and grandparents did.

The problems of the nation's overall economy are compounded in the housing industry.

The first and major victims of the nation's disastrous economic policy-making once again are housing and the American people and the industry that serves those needs.

The shortage of housing and the low level of new housing production in the face of high demand are occurring while the price of existing housing is skyrocketing.

All over America, builders are going out of business each month.

A vast national resource—America's housing industry—is being allowed to go down the drain in the name of fighting inflation.

Runaway inflation, unbridled business borrowing, loss of housing funds from savings and trust institutions, a dangerous price and wage situation, and ever-higher interest rates are pushing the nation toward economic disaster.

This inflation is feeding upon itself through novel and risky forms of business borrowing which circumvent the intent of national policy on credit restraints.

We support a reasonable degree of monetary restraint and a balanced budget. However, as now exercised, tight money is resulting in higher interest rates and is not working.

If only we would be patient, the contention is, tight money will lead us to the promised land. This gradualism is not enough.

What we have now is an economic policy that is bleeding to death. We cannot wait.

Before current policies can possibly achieve their purpose, ever they do, the nature of America's housing industry will have changed irrevocably.

The need for action is now—before the situation becomes irretrievable.

The President on May 10 did take action which reflected an understanding of housing's special social and economic status. That action, under worsening conditions, is clearly not enough.

To restore a healthy, stable economy, to restore consumer confidence in the nation's economy, requires more than airy platitudes, promises and one-sided monetary restraint which does not affect vast sectors of the business community.

Bank lending for business is up sharply despite the supposed restraints in this area.

1. A clearly and simply stated economic approach understandable to consumers and business and aimed at increasing productivity must be instituted and scrupulously carried out.

2. We must have a program that distributes the burden of restraint fairly to prevent the disastrous outflow of funds from the economy.

3. For more than a year the current scramble for funds which find their way to bigger, stronger and, often, speculative borrowers.

This could include, but not be limited to, credit creation and flexible bank reserve requirements.

3. Early Congressional passage of a constructive housing bill—now in conference between the House and the Senate—is essential.

Americans, we are convinced, will make whatever sacrifices are necessary, providing such sacrifices are borne by everybody and providing they believe that this will, in the end, result in a more stable, basically prosperous economy.

What we have now is one-sided, unfair. What is worse is that it is not working.

For more than a year the home building industry has called attention to the nation's deteriorating housing situation. It is no consolation to see our worst fears realized. Yet it is still not too late.

We believe a nation will be judged by the way in which its people live and are housed.

America has done well in the last 27 years; it is now doing poorly, badly fair to do worse, and no relief is in sight.

The time for action is now.

State procurement staff has big task

SPRINGFIELD — "There you are, look at that list. It has everything, everything from a house to a pigpen," announced Jimmie North, procurement officer for the Department of General Services.

This division is a little-known arm of a code agency of the state government, but it is a division which has a staggering task.

North is charged with purchasing all supplies and equipment for over 300 state agencies. These agencies encompass the whole spectrum of state-run facilities with one exception—universities.

Additionally, the procurement office supplies a valuable service to other taxing bodies in the state which may be county, township or city mandated.

The whole program is operated on the same philosophy as a house or a pigpen. That is, the recognition that buying in quantity reduces the price.

Participating agencies must submit lists of items and quantities required to the procurement office by a set date so North can let contracts for the items on a bid basis.

This is a fairly standard procedure, but a difference in the Illinois department as opposed to many other states is that it has approximately 30 open-end contracts, which, if used, would allow for the purchase of items on a bid basis.

The letter informs the prospective buyer what seller has been awarded the contract.

The governing agency is also restricted to buying a minimum amount. For instance, a very small town might need only one quad car and one is the minimum, but rock salt is something else.

The minimum for salt may be in tons, or minimum for light bulbs could be by the multipled gross.

"We do not go out and sell our program," North said. "We just couldn't handle the volume if everyone used it."

"Take salt for example. Every county and incorporated town in the state use salt."

North also said that allowing other governing bodies to make purchases through the procurement office of General Services is a courtesy of the state which cannot be offered to large cities.

These megapolities have purchasing power of their own due to their size, but small towns can realize a considerable saving on cars, typewriters, adding machines, office furniture, and on and on into the thousands of items listed.

Children's homes, state offices and departments, prisons and police require an amazing variety of supplies. But someone north keeps coming back to salt.

He has a three-inch square of almost clear crystal on his desk.

"Know what this is?" he inquired with a twinkle.

"Salt!"

"H-mmm. I thought salt was produced by evaporating water from the product of the saline pits."

That is the common misconception, North nods knowingly. "But this is the way salt looks when it is mined."

Utility service hinges on adequate rate level

By ARCH BOOTH
President,
U.S. Chamber of Commerce

Most of us have a very clear idea of what we want from our public utilities: Maximum service at minimum cost.

But suppose the choice is maximum service or minimum cost? What would we say then? And how should costs be apportioned among users?

These are few of the thorny questions that arise when government regulators—must wrestle with, seldom to the satisfaction of all.

Apportioning costs is especially tricky.

For example, whether you're selling transportation, power or communication, it's usually much less costly to provide high-volume service over a small area than low-volume service over a large area.

Should the costs of all service be averaged out, so that each user pays the same per unit of use, regardless of the cost of providing that service to him? Where this is the case, as in the telephone industry, the low-cost customers are subsidizing the high-cost customers.

With something like telephone or mail service, there is an argument for such a subsidy. It is to the advantage of all users to have the service as widespread as possible.

The argument is not as strong for electric power, where the user is always a recipient and never a sender.

On the other hand, if charges are related to the cost of providing the service for each customer, or for classes of customers, then high-volume users will generally get a lower per-unit rate.

This has been the practice in selling energy. Such a rate scheme means that big industrial consumers get a lower rate than the home owners tend to receive.

Why are big customers and densely populated areas less costly to serve than sparsely populated areas and sparsely settled regions? Because the cost of the distribution system—wire or pipe, for example—is about the same regardless of how much a user calls upon it, or how many users are connected to it.

So, the high-volume user pays a smaller rate, is paying a larger proportionate share of the fixed costs than a low-volume user. Likewise, the large population of city block is paying a bigger share of the fixed costs than the small population of a rural area.

Of all that sounds confusing, think of an airplane flying between two cities on a regular schedule. The cost of the plane is the same whether it is flying full of passengers or nearly empty.

If it flies nearly empty very often, the fares of the remaining passengers will have to be raised to cover the cost of providing the service, or the service will have to be curtailed.

This matter of sharing the cost of a service is something that is frustrating many customers of electric utilities today.

As power usage goes down, service falls, either.

Nobody would like to see his gas, electrical or telephone service fall, either.

Nobody would like to see his gas, electrical or telephone service fall, either.

Chicago-based ecology group, for the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency, five area companies were found to be among the 34 "worst polluters"
in the state, according to Philip Miller, a CBE spokesman.

Clark Oil and Refining Co. of Hartford was listed 12th among the state's polluting industries, spewing 17,000 pounds of pollutants per hour; Union
Electric Co. in Venice was 17th on the list with 12,500 pounds per hour; Shell Oil Co. of Roxana was 19th with 11,000 pounds;
Granite City Steel was listed 31st, emitting more than 4,500 pounds of pollutants per hour;
and Monsanto Chemical Co. at Saugat was 32nd with 5,000

ARCH earlier objected to a $12 million planned expansion, which included 70 medical-surgical beds, stating more such beds were not needed in the area because of a 127-bed expansion project at St.

Car hits pole, driver injured

Perry Collins, 28, of 2029
Russell Ave., was admitted to St. Elizabeth Hospital after his auto struck a utility pole in the 1600 block of Madison Avenue at 11:15 p.m. yesterday.
Collins said he lost control of the auto and hit the pole, damaging the pole and several feet of the car. He was charged with reckless driving.
He was taken to the hospital with two cuts to his lower lip and an abrasion to his right elbow. X-rays were taken of his skull, spine and chest.

Injured as auto enters lawns—hits house, car

Gregory Jackson, 17, of 2248
Bryn Acre, was injured when his auto went out of control in the 2603 block of Morrison Road and struck a house, an auto, two mail boxes, three trash cans, shrubbery and a picnic table.
He was charged with reckless driving and failure to reduce speed to avoid an accident.

Jackson's eastbound auto left the roadway and went into a ditch. It came out of the ditch and went into the yard of Ruby Putrack, 2541 Morrison Road, striking two mail boxes and three trash cans and damaging the lawn.
The Jackson auto then continued into the yard of Philip

Mitchell, 2545 Morrison Road, striking two shrubs and then the front of Mitchell's house, then Mitchell's parked auto, pushing it backwards into a tree.
Jackson's auto continued and demolished Mitchell's picnic table before coming to a stop in the yard at 2541 Morrison Road.

A section of bricks on the front of Mitchell's home was damaged and Mitchell believed his auto may have been demolished.
Jackson was taken to St.
Elizabeth Hospital where surgeries were administered to close a cut to his forehead. He declined to be admitted to the hospital.

Youth faces cannabis charge

Venice police arrested
Joseph James Banks, 19, of 1104
Lojai St., Venice, and charged him with unlawful possession of cannabis at 10:30 a.m. Friday.
Authorities on patrol said they saw a car parked in the middle of the street at 1225
Klein St. and the driver holding a yellow envelope while talking with another person.

The driver attempted to hide
the envelope when officers approached the vehicle. A carabao box on the front seat of the auto was discovered to contain 25 similar envelopes, police reported.

Banks was arrested first on a charge of illegal parking. Police said that after an analysis was made of the contents of one of the open envelopes, he was charged with unlawful possession of cannabis.

Illinois Arts Council display

With a $3,500 grant from the Illinois Arts Council, four graduate art students at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville and Prof. Michael Smith have built a display which will be used to promote council-sponsored events throughout the state.

David Huntley, chairman of the art department, said the SIUE display was selected by the IAC from competition which included a Chicago professional design company.

Exhibited for the first time at the Illinois State Fair, which opened Friday, the 12-plexiglass panels were designed by John Celuch, a staff assistant in Audio Visual Services at SIUE and a graduate art student. Celuch also did the art work.

Smith supervised vacuum forming of the plexiglass. Graduate students Ernest Jones of Long Island, N.Y., Michael Mason, Collinsville, and David McLeod, Lincoln, Neb., were involved in fabrication of the display.

Silk screening for the 12 panels was done by the University's Sign Shop.

DESIGNER OF ARTS DISPLAY. John Celuch, graduate student of art at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, is pictured. He designed and did the art work for a display for the Illinois Arts Council, to be used by the council to promote cultural events throughout the state. Tubing for the display was done by David McLeod.

Four deputies commended

Four deputy sheriffs of the staff of Madison County Sheriff John Maeras have been commended for their actions in two separate cases.

Letters of commendation were issued by Sheriff Maeras to McKinley Hardmon, Madison; John Petroski, Madison; and Sgt. Dave Reno of Dorsey for their actions in an incident that occurred at the County Jail July 30 when a prisoner was found hanging from a towel in his jail cell.

The Sheriff said the men's actions in cutting down the prisoner and applying artificial resuscitation saved the prisoner's life. Maeras also issued a letter of commendation to Deputy John McLagan of Alton for his action in restraining from use of his gun during a burglary investigation in Alton on Aug. 5. Maeras said McLagan was investigating a burglary in progress when three persons fled from a residence. McLagan restrained from firing at the fleeing suspects, Maeras said, using highly commendable judgment. A juvenile since has been apprehended in the case and is now awaiting hearing, Maeras said.

GOODBYE TO 'POP.' One of the youngsters from the Edgar Children's Shelter says goodbye to his Shasta "Pop" after spending a day aboard the U.S.S. Shasta. The ship's crew and employees of Shasta Beverages have formed a big brother organization called the Shasta "Pops" to sponsor outings for orphaned and dependent children.

Shasta Beverages, Navy extend hands to orphans

Love can mean a lot to a fatherless child. That's what Shasta Beverages and the officers and crew of the U.S.S. Shasta naval ship are donating through an organization they're calling the Shasta "Pops."

Shasta Beverages operates a major bottling facility in Granite City. A pilot activity for what may become a national program was held late this summer in San Francisco when 50 orphaned and dependent children from the Edgar Children's Shelter in Martinez, Calif., were invited aboard the U.S.S. Shasta ammunition ship to spend the day with their Shasta "Pops."

In addition to U.S.S. Shasta crew members, the children were given a tour of the ship, a course on Naval flags and their use, and lunch in the ship's galley. After lunch, the group divided up so that each "Pop" could spend some time along with his little brother or sister, getting to know the youngsters.

According to the ship's captain, Commander Lawrence Masten, the ship tour was just the first of many activities the Shasta "Pops" plan to sponsor for the children's Shelter.

The ship is now assigned to the Far East and many of the youngsters continue to write to their "Pops," who in return will be sending the children postcards from the foreign ports they visit.

The crew of the Shasta has maintained a close relationship with Shasta Beverages ever since the ship's commissioning in February 1972. We've had their families aboard for short trips around the Bay and they have supplied us with Shasta soda pop when we are overseas," the captain reports.

The ship has been nicknamed the "Soda Pop Express" by sailors on other vessels who often receive cases of Shasta along with ammunition from the U.S.S. Shasta's cargo hold.

"Both organizations wanted to do something together that would be beneficial to the community in this case," comments Bill Myers, president of Shasta Beverages. "Formation of the Shasta 'Pops' has been so successful we are considering expanding it nationwide through our 21 plants."

Following Navy tradition for ammunition transport ships, the U.S.S. Shasta was named after a volcanic mountain.

Soon after the new U.S.S. Shasta was commissioned, the ship's captain and Shasta Beverages executives, recognizing their common bond in name, arranged to meet on the ship for a ceremonial exchange of symbols and slogans.

The Shasta Beverage Company was presented a plaque which displayed the ship's crest and its motto, "We Serve Anytime, Anywhere."

In return, the U.S.S. Shasta was presented a flag bearing a silhouette of Mt. Shasta and the Shasta Beverages slogan, "It Musta Be Shasta."

This banner has become the official "house flag" of the ship and is flown during replenishment operations at sea, adding to its reputation as the "Soda Pop Express."

Shasta Beverages, headquartered in Hayward, Calif., is a subsidiary of Consolidated Foods Corp.

The firm distributes 15 diet and 14 regular flavors of soft drinks throughout the United States, Western Canada and Puerto Rico.

Charles V. Cantag, St. Louis, and Paula D. Yates, Granite City, are Shasta Beverages executives.

Danny L. Parsons, Rock Creek, W. Va., and Margaret D. Richardson, Granite City, are Shasta Beverages executives.

Foster parents are receiving a $20 a month per child fee increase for care of dependent and neglected children.

Jerome G. Miller, director of the state Department of Children and Family Services, has announced that the increase will be retroactive to July 1.

Foster parents formerly were paid from $88 to $130 monthly depending on the age of the child, Miller noted.

The increases were made possible by Gov. Daniel Walker's signing of a record $106 million appropriation for the state child welfare agency July 23.

The bill boosted funding by 21.7 per cent for the agency for the 1974-75 fiscal year that began July 1. A portion of the increase was earmarked for support of children in foster families.

Of the more than 25,000 children served by the Department of Children and Family Services, nearly 11,000 are presently cared for in foster homes.

"Foster parents are the backbone of our child welfare program," Miller said. "I am delighted that we can give them a substantial increase in reimbursement while exploring other benefits."

Approximately $475,000 will be used to provide training for foster parents to increase their understanding and skills in dealing with troubled youngsters, the director said.

Medical care is furnished to foster children through the federal Medicaid program administered by the state Department of Public Aid.

However, Miller said, his department is exploring the possibility of providing medical care through a private insurance program.

Fee increases also are being granted to private agencies which operate foster family care programs for children under state custody, Miller noted.

He said the new rates will mean significant added payments for private agency foster parents, as well as offsetting higher agency administrative costs.

Miller announced that most private institutions, which serve about 2,000 youngsters under department guardianship, will receive rate increases retroactive to the start of the fiscal year.

He said the rates will be computed on the most recent costs incurred by the private agencies in serving state wards.

The new system will simplify rate-setting by basing rates on "program service units." A major emphasis will be on agencies achieving measurable results in treating children with emotional and adjustment problems, he said.

One criterion of success will be enabling a child to move from institutional care into a home setting after a reasonable period of treatment, it was explained.

Seals and Crofts in final Festival concert Aug. 24

Seals and Crofts will appear in the final concert of this year's Mississippi River Festival at SIUE on Saturday evening, Aug. 24, at 8:30, it has been announced by Lyle Ward, concert manager of the festival.

Tickets for the event, priced from $3 to $6.50, are on sale at bi-state area box offices.

The intricate harmonies of Seals and Crofts are a blend of Oriental, classical, country, blues, jazz and rock music.

Jim Seals and Dash Crofts were both born in tiny Texas towns into households where music was encouraged.

By the time Jimmy Seals was nine years old, he had won the Texas state fiddle championship and was becoming a steady member of country groups traveling throughout Texas.

As he matured, he took up the tenor saxophone, which he concentrated upon until the formation of Seals and Crofts.

Dash Crofts was influenced both by the classics, which his mother loved, and rhythm and blues, which he heard on the radio. He learned to play the piano and drums.

Seals and Crofts met while attending the same local junior high and headed to California in 1966 to join the rock group, the "Champs," famous for "Tequila."

For seven years, they lived the life of rock stars — traveling from Sidney, Tex., to Sydney, Australia.

During the mid-sixties, after the "Champs" dissolved, the "Dawnbreakers" formed and the entire group converted to the Bahai faith.

During the same period, Crofts began experimenting with the mandolin and the writings of Seals and Crofts became more spiritual.

"Hummingbird" was one of their biggest single recordings and Seals and Crofts have three albums on the Warner Brothers label: Summer Breeze, Diamond Girl and their newest and most controversial, Unborn Child.

Appearing with Seals and Crofts at the River Festival will be England Dan and John Ford Coley, special guest artists.

Shootings follow arguments

Granite City police today are investigating two separate shooting incidents which took place early Sunday morning. Authorities said they believed that while both incidents took place at 20th street and Madison Avenue more than an hour apart, arguments were prompted the incidents originated at a drive-in restaurant.

At 2:54 a.m. Sunday, Madison Avenue, 20, of 116 Douglas St., Venice entered the restaurant. He said he was subjected to verbal abuse from other patrons.

Garrett drove away with two vehicles following him. Upon reaching 20th street and Madison Avenue, where Garrett stopped for a red light, someone from one of the other autos fired a shotgun blast into the rear of his car.

Later, at 4:28 a.m., an auto stopped at the Clark Service Station at 20th street and Madison Avenue was fired upon with a pistol.

Occupants of the vehicle, Robert Niesporch, 21, of 2400 Iowa St.; Rich Niesporch, 21, of 2608 Iowa St.; and Ed Ray, 22, of 4025 Gaslight Walk Apartments, all of Granite City, claimed that they had trouble with occupants of the other vehicle earlier at the restaurant. The restaurant was closed temporarily by police at 3:30 a.m.

Incident in lot results in charge

Responding to a disturbance call on the parking lot at 1404 Liquors, 228 N. Main St., at 7:35 p.m. Thursday, police said the two persons involved in a fight declined to sign complaints and were advised to leave.

Officers alleged that Glen Morgan, 27, of 3601 Dale Ave., became a belligerent and was arrested after several warnings. He was charged with disorderly conduct and was taken to the St. Elizabeth Hospital for treatment of contusions to the upper lip. He had x-rays taken of the skull and spine and was released to police.

Wishes success to Ford

State Senator Sam Vadala (D-Edwardsville) Friday extended his wishes for success of the new administration of President Gerald Ford and said the time has come "for a period of cooperation and reconciliation."

Vadala said:

"All of us view the events of the past week with profound regret, particularly since they have worked such a tremendous change in our governmental leadership."

"The great lesson to be learned from these events, I would hope, is the recognition that the processes of our government can work effectively and this nation can rise to the challenges that confront it."

"The time has come now for us to enter a period of cooperation and reconciliation. I wish President Ford and his new administration all the success it can muster in confronting the tremendous problems that face it."

"Finally, I recognize the anguish with which many of our citizens who have been deprived of the president for which they voted, must be feeling at this time.

"I sympathize with them and I hope that this new period of cooperation will produce the kinds of reforms that will prevent a recurrence of the kind of tragedy we have all had to share in."

Three injured in auto crash

Three persons were injured at 8:45 p.m. Thursday when a car driven by Stanley Hecht, 16, of 4352 Breckenridge Lane, struck a tree stump at Lake Drive and Lakeview Drive. Taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital were Hecht, who suffered a cut above the left eye; Miss Barbara Bradshaw, 15, of 29 Fontainebleau Drive, and Tim Briggs, 15, of 3210 Wilshire Drive.

Miss Bradshaw was admitted to the hospital after treatment of a cut to the right elbow and bruises about the face. Briggs suffered a right hand injury. Both Hecht and Briggs were released after treatment.

Hearing on aged program

The Illinois Department on Aging will hold a public hearing on its fiscal year 1975 state plan for programs for the aging in Springfield Aug. 21.

Department Director Irving Dillard said, "The State plan covers programs funded under Titles III and VII of the Older Americans Act of 1965, as amended."

"Currently, there are 30 Title VII nutrition projects serving congregate meals to more than 200 sites. Thirteen area agencies on aging will fund 90 Title III programs in Illinois."

"Public hearings are required by federal regulations."

"The Springfield meeting will be held in the City Council chambers, third floor, Municipal Building, between 1 p.m. and 5 p.m. Aug. 21.

"Persons who desire to submit testimony at the Springfield hearing—either in person or in writing—should contact Miss Katie Miller, not later than Aug. 14."

"Miss Miller's mailing address is: Department on Aging, 200 W. Jackson Blvd., Chicago, Ill. 60606. She can be reached by telephone on either 312-793-2614 or 217-782-7962."

"Interested persons are being invited to read the proposed state plan in the department's Springfield office at 2401 W. Jefferson St., or its Belleville office at 1110 A. South 6th St."

GC Area PTA aids Channel 9

A record-breaking 183 KETC-TV membership pledges were called in to Granite City area PTA members last week in response to Channel 9's special evening of programming, telecast as part of Membership Pledge Week.

Miss Eileen Burke, the non-commercial station's membership services coordinator, said the task of manning the phones and keeping records of the pledges called in were handled by volunteers from the Granite City Area Council of Parent-Teacher Associations and the Ralston-Purina Checkerboard Chapter of Toastmasters International.

Miss Burke also reported that the evening's 183 pledges broke Channel 9's standing record of 140 pledges in one night in February 1973.

Channel 9's special week of programming ended with a special Saturday evening schedule of programs.

Driver injured

James Tierney III, 21, Belleville, was admitted at St. Elizabeth Hospital at 3:05 a.m. Friday as the result of an accident on Route 157 at the entrance to the Sunset Hills Country Club golf course.

Sheriff's deputies said Tierney's car went off the road and overturned several times, landing right side up, when he swerved to avoid hitting an animal. Tierney suffered cuts to the left elbow and back and contusions to the right side of his face.

Theft charged

Edward R. Braun, 18, of 2516 Roney Drive, was charged with theft at 1:30 p.m. Thursday at Granite City police headquarters where he was being held on two counts of burglary in connection with break-ins at Maryville School and North High School at 1:30 a.m. the same day.

Police said the theft charge resulted from the disappearance of a "mug" shot from the desk in an office where Braun was being interviewed by detectives. The picture allegedly was found in Braun's cell.

Braun was released to Madison County deputies at 3:30 a.m. Friday, along with two other GC youths allegedly involved in the school break-ins.

GRANTMASTER RADIAL TIRE GUARANTEE

1. 40,000 MILE GUARANTEE—Every new Grant radial tire is guaranteed by the W. T. Grant Company to give its purchaser 40,000 miles of tread wear if used on the vehicle on which it was originally installed, in normal highway non-commercial service. If the tread wears down to the 2/32nds" tread depth indicator before delivering 40,000 miles of tread wear, any participating W. T. Grant Store throughout the United States will replace the tire with an equivalent new tire on a pro rata mileage basis, charging the purchaser only for the mileage actually received.

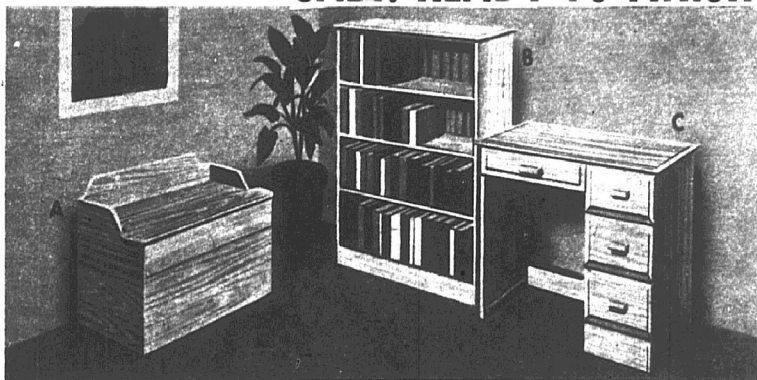

Proper tire care is necessary to obtain maximum mileage from your radial tires. Your mileage guarantee is contingent upon taking your tires into a Grant store for free inspection and possible rotation every 5,000 miles and the proper completion of your mileage record by the adjusting store in case of a claim under this guarantee.

2. Tread Life Guarantee Against Road Hazards
We guarantee all Grantmaster tires against failures from all normal road hazards for the life of the tread with the exception of: ordinary nail punctures, fire, theft, front-end mis-alignment, under-inflation, over-inflation and running flat.

3. Tread Life Guarantee Against Defects
We guarantee the Grantmaster tires, against all defects of material and workmanship, for the life of the tread. Basis of Adjustment: Should your Grantmaster tire require adjustment under Section 1 or 2 of the Guarantee, please return it to Grants and we will replace it by giving you a proportionate allowance for the unused tread, based on the current selling price, including Federal Excise Tax.

This guarantee covers tires in passenger car service only. Passenger car tires used in commercial service reduce the guarantee period by 50%.
